Objective

Our team has been challenged to build an MVP for our client, who provides Meet & Greet airport services in 3 months, which includes a Website, an Admin panel that allows controlling the entire website and the CRM system to manage orders that have come from the website. Further, we will need to work on a mobile application that will be available soon!

Solution

WeMean restructured the entire business from Excel sheets to modern solutions that help business scale ultra-fast.

During these 3 months our team managed to structure an entire business process using BPMN, design and implement a CRM system from scratch that allows to control deals, orders, customer support, services, knowledge databases, managers and shifts. We also made an astonishing website with user-centric design and easy to use UX. So we did a full-cycle technical support for our client's product.

Clients reviews

The service was excellent. I was met immediately I disembarked from the plane at LHR, and at a time when LHR was recording 3 - 4 hour wait at Passport Control, traveling with a toddler would have been ... I do not regret using the Airport Assist service. It was a seamless passage for me and my family. The personnel was very polite, friendly and patient. Even when BA messed up by distributing passengers' luggage on 4 different carousels, he was very supportive. I would recommend this service to anyone. Thank you Universal Sky Services for a great experience.

I booked USVP's services for a client of mine's family last minute at Luton airport. They were travelling from Kiev and needed someone to help them with their paperwork through customs. Arranging the service was prompt and my client came back delighted with the quality of service that was offered. Thank you ever so much!

Fantastic service from Universal Sky Services! Very quick responses to any email enquiries, and a brilliant arrivals service at LHR on a busy Saturday evening last week. We were met by two representatives and whisked straight through Immigration to collect our bags. I'd estimate that we saved ourselves a 2

Objective

We had a task to convert our client's idea into a completed product from scratch. The main goal of the product was to help people with low communication skills build relationships with other people through a game format.

Solution

Having only an idea, we designed the business logic for the entire project. Came up with the idea of monetization for the product, made full documentation e.g. Use-cases, User stories, Design Descriptions, Business requirements, Business rules, and SRSs). Also we were in charge of the product's prototypes, design, front-end and back-end development of a WEB and mobile application on a microservice architecture.

And we are still maintaining support and sometimes work on fresh ideas and updates.

The screenshot displays the Boost Vendors website interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with 'BOOST VENDORS' logo, 'Shop', 'My Orders', and 'Shop' links, along with 'Sign In' and 'Sign Up' buttons. The main banner features the text 'Enjoy the GAME, not boring farming' and 'Don't waste your time and just enjoy the process - we will take care of everything else!'. Below the banner are three featured items: 'WOW CLASSIC', 'CALL OF DUTY', and 'VALORANT'. A 'Call of Duty' filter is active, showing a grid of items with prices and 'See More' buttons. The items include 'COD:Warzone Battle Royale Wins' (35$), 'COD:MW Sniper Critical Unlock' (95$), 'COD:Warzone Kill/Death' (25$), and 'COD:MW Launchers Platinum Camo Unlock with a PRO player' (220$). A review section on the right shows a 5.0 rating and a testimonial.

Objective

The WeMean team was tasked with making a two-sided marketplace where players can upgrade their game accounts for money, and other players can earn on it.

Solution

We started with analyzing competitors, collected their pros and cons, worked out business logic and functions, and designed application prototypes. After that, we completed several design concepts, and when the style was approved, we made a complete project design.

As a result, we made 4 separate roles that interact with each other (customer, performer, manager, and admin).

Objective

Our task was to develop a CRM system for a taxi fleet management company that has more than 100 cars, and more than 500 drivers. We had to make an advanced shift management system, salary, and analytics for drivers and autos.

Solution

We conducted in-house surveys and collected a list of problems that managers and drivers face. Then we worked out a scenario to solve those problems, gathered business requirements for the CRM system, made prototypes, and designed the main modules. As a next step, we managed to combine the development of ready-made modules and the design of new ones.

As a result, we made a CRM system for accounting for drivers, cars, shifts, salary calculation, accounting maintenance, management tools for fleet managers, investors, analytics, and more...
